

Corey and Oats in..
Piff and the Big Bad Monster Potion

Everyone's favorite duo known as Corey and Oats went on many adventures and had many new friends and their most successful friend was Piff the pufferfish, a pufferfish that gained over 287 Youtube subscribers due to his popular and funny videos and his adventures in general and he was getting ready to celebrate his upcoming plans to do a 300th subscriber special and he had grand plans for it. One day the duo and all their friends were playing games in their home in Nile Road when Piff got a message from his twin/biggest fan Suku, Suku had plans for a collaboration event and he thought Piff would approve of them.

Which of course he definitely would, as he saw the concept art that Suku had made and how he planned on having a celebration collaboration event in Vyond City. So he used his magic to open up a portal to the online universe and he and all of the friends jumped through it, the portal took them all the way through the online realm selection area which is where they all went to choose an area to explore.

The area they chose was Vyond City and they all jumped through a second portal to take them into that world, when they arrived through the other end they had arrived in Vyond City and headed to the big grand celebration area where Piff orchestrated all the ideas for the celebration as Suku met up with him, once there they all brain-stormed ideas and met up with the Adamantiums, along with the members of Mel's hero team which consisted of her, Eucalyptus, Soo, Mimi Minionette, Wailleo, Russell Brand, John Landis, Anglo, Augini, Piff, Tangie, Aivyan, Nathan, Dan the Were-Aykroyd, Matthias/Werebelushi In Shades, Aiyido, Delilah Deathray, Herbert the Cthulhu squishmallow, Vlad the vampire squishmallow, Oats, Corey, and the ghost of Ozzy Osbourne.

Mel was looking forward to whatever idea Piff had in mind and Piff and Suku began to work on some special magic drinks to give to all their friends, when Alan Huntington of the Alanastiums had a wicked idea, he thought that he could make Piff a troublemaker (well by that he thought he could make him evil) so he swapped out Piff's magical fruit drink (a drink that was supposed to make you happy and cheerful) and replace it with a monsterification potion, Piff reached for the potion and shook it around before drinking it. 'Are you sure you should be drinking that, Piffy?' 'Yeah, you'll turn into a monster if you drink that.' 'You'll terrorize innocent people, you'll be evil, and even worse, those guys in the Freakendope community will make awful fan made AUs about it.'

'Hey! The freakendope community does not write awful fanfics about werecreatures, i'm going to call you out using the document of shame card!' An annoying voice belonging to a minor character piped up. 'Don't mind that freak, that's just the Jr Harrassor Monster. This one is just the lesser off-spring of the original and doesn't hold much water since they only just appeared in one episode and that episode got cancelled.' 'Should we tell Werebelushi?' 'Werebelushi does not care for minor threats, this character only showed up once as a callback to the first ever monster we ever battled in Deviantart City, and even then it's not much of one. And besides, Werebelushi doesn't do legacy sequel episodes.' 'Oh yeah, he did say that.' 'I mean he just retired that one segment from his show because the feud is over, do you really think some minor antagonist is going to get his attention?'

Piff picked up the potion again and tested it before drinking it and he began to feel funny as a dark presence entered his body, his hair slowly spiked up as his eyes turned a deep shade of yellow and gave off an eerie glow as his teeth sharpened, he bulked up and laughed evilly as he became a monster version of himself. 'Oh no, guys, Piff is a monster, look.' 'Hahahaha, i'm going to cause all sorts of trouble.'

'No Piffy, don't do it.' Tangie screamed, as she saw the monsterfied version of her boyfriend, the Monsterfied Piff laughed evilly as he messed up all of the papers and smashed some statues and breathed fire on some of the plants...'Piffy, stop, you are not a monster, you're our friend!', he stamped his feet and caused all sorts of havoc.

The Alanastiums watched as they saw Piff rampaging, they were all very pleased with the havoc he was causing, but then Wario complained as Tangie went over to her transformed boyfriend and gave him a hug, telling him...'You are not like this normally, you are my sweet sashimi, you are Piffykins. Please Piffykins, don't do this.'

Piff snapped out of his monstrous mindset and began to cry as they had lunch and some snacks followed by afternoon tea together, Tangie found the drink that Piff had made and gave it to him, Piff drank it and slowly reverted back to normal. 'Phew, hey ladies, i'm back!' 'Oh Piffikins, you're all better!' 'Yeah and it's all thanks to you.'

She hugged her fishy boyfriend and kissed him as Suku sighed with relief, while seeing his favorite fishy celebrity turn into a monster was amazing he felt bad for him, and Suku also hugged Piff. An hour later they decided to continue brainstorming before playing at the arcade, which was followed by a shopping trip. The Defenders and Adamantiums both grounded The Alanastiums for what they did.

When they decided it was time to go home Piff used a magic spell to open another portal which they all jumped through and were directed to the online realm selection area before jumping through the exit portal which took them all the way back to the lounge in their home, as they all gathered over near the big table for dinner.

Piff made them some delicious Japanese dishes and sang songs and after dinner Mel emailed Jill about their adventure as the fish couple went fishing and caught a lot of fish, they had a karaoke session and played games, and Piff and Suku even shared their video content and celebrated as he had seen he now had 288 subscribers which meant it would not be long until the 300th subscribers special.

After their fun session had come to an end Corey put on his bat pajamas and Oats put on his princess night-gown as the fishy couple did some wholesome relaxation activities including Tangie's favorite game of guessing the bathbomb scent, and some fish themed games, which was followed by them all going into the bedroom and brushing their teeth.

Piff initiated the closedown sequence that he put at the end of every day, and this one was a special edition of the closedown sequence that was depicted as a Mario style video game where the animated pufferfish ran through a forest level and jumped on some clouds that took him flying all the way into a level with an underwater themed house where he collected bedtime items while floating up into the bedroom, as an 'unlocked: Sleepytime Fish outfit' screen popped up and his clothes transitioned into a pair of coral print pajamas as he yawned and brushed his teeth before performing a super flight bouncing move and jumping into the bed as a special goodnight message appeared on screen as he used a toothbrush power-up to brush his teeth.

Which was followed by Piff himself using a magical key to open up a hidden level which took them all into the bedroom as the 'unlocked: Sleepytime outfit' screen appeared as Piff's clothes morphed into an elegant pair of coral print pajamas and he swooped into bed and kissed Tangie, and he gave a goodnight speech which was: 'Sometimes people can be really scary when they're not themselves and the same goes for other creatures too, like me, I got turned into a monster after those Alanastiums switched my special drink with a monster transformation potion and I could not control my actions as the monster version of myself but after Tangie helped me I turned back into myself and all is better. We certainly had quite the adventure, but now our adventure has come to an end but more are come, so we shall say goodnight.'

They all drifted off to sleep as Anglo turned off the lights and they all had sweet dreams including Piff, who dreamed of defeating the Alanastiums and his monster form he had turned into who tried to get him by crawling out of a mirror but Piff was able to stop him by thinking positive happy thoughts.

And thus their adventure had ended but more are coming up, so stay tuned.