

It was a quiet Saturday afternoon in the city. Saturn, a light brown, chonky Virizion casually strolling through the streets with a soft smile on his face until he arrived at a small apartment complex, glancing at all the doors on the upper floors of the building.

"This looks like the place," Saturn remarked to himself, "I wonder why Kajex called me over though. It's unusual."

Saturn began to go up the staircase to the second floor, each step creaking under his weight juuuust a bit as he kept up his smile.

"Whatever it is, I bet it'll be fun!" he thought as he arrived at the second floor.

After just a few more minutes Saturn finally arrived in front of one of the apartments, seemingly Kajex's before knocking on the door a few times.

"I'm here, my smol friend!" Saturn smiled as he heard little footsteps behind the door. "J-Just a minute!" a familiar, stuttery voice echoed.

After a few minutes Kajex unlocked and opened the door wheezing as he tried to catch his breath, looking up at the considerably taller Virizion before him with his usual shy demeanor, looking adorable.

"What took you so long?" Saturn asked in a concerned tone as he stepped inside, "I said I was on my way ages ago." "W-Wel uh..." Kajex awkwardly began, "Y-You see..."

Saturn closed the door and looked over Kajex's shoulder to see an assortment of strange items on the table, piquing his curiosity.

"Is it something to do with those little toys over there?" Saturn playfully asked. "M-Maybe!" Kajex panicked with flustered tail wags, "J-Just maybe..."

Saturn saw an assortment of unusual items on the table, a ray gun, a remote, a potion, and even a slip of paper with an incantation on it, all of which made Saturn more intrigued than ever.

"I-I wanted to make a bet with you!" Kajex stammered as his tail wags grew more flustered. "A bet you say?" Saturn asked curiously, "What kind of bet?"

Kajex awkwardly slinked towards the items with a bright blush looking up at Saturn with his precious little blush.

"I-I bet that I can make you so big even you'll say you're too big!" Kajex exclaimed with the brightest blush, "A-And I even borrowed all of this equipment just to prove it!"

Saturn was caught off guard at first by Kajex's sudden bet, but that soon turned into intrigue and even excitement as he looked back at the little Lucario.

"You reeeeeeeally think you can pull that off?" Saturn smirked as he looked at Kajex, "I've been known to get preeeeeeetty big with my own potion from time to time."

Kajex's palms sparked with a red light for a moment before he grabbed the items off of the table and tucked some of them in his coat pockets.

"Y-You bet I can do it!" Kajex exclaimed as he held out the potion, "So you accept my bet Saturn?"

Saturn gently plucked the potion out of Kajex's grasp and popped off the cork, technically not even needing to say a word about him accepting.

"I accept your challenge," Saturn smirked as he scratched Kajex's ear, "But you're asking for the impossible." "I don't think it's impossible," Kajex chuckled as Saturn held the bottle to his lips, "You just haven't gone big enough yourself!"

Saturn gave a soft chuckle before chugging the entire potion in just a few gulps, giving his big belly a soft rub as he felt the potion course throughout his body.

"Want to step outside before I start growing?" Saturn asked as his belly began to gurgle, "It's already kicking in." "N-Nah it's fine," Kajex blushed, "I-I was gonna ask if you could drink that in here anyways." "D'awww," Saturn said as the floor began to creak.

Saturn was slowly beginning to grow before Kajex's eyes, his head already crashing against the ceiling as his belly already began to bump against Kajex's nose.

"This feels really niiice," Saturn remarked as he sat down with a floor cracking thud. "GI-Glad you think so," Kajex blushed as he was soon pressed against the wall by Saturn's stomach.

Saturn began to make the walls and floors crack against his growing body, Kajex meanwhile was a blushy mess as his belly enveloped him like a big, squishy bed and he enjoyed it quite a lot.

"Mmmmm, how long will this first growth spurt last? Saturn remarked as his limbs tore through the walls. "I-I have no idea," Kajex shuttered, "I-I didn't check with Cherry about that."

Saturn's growth accelerated as he SMASHED down to the first floor of the building, then his head tore through the roof. His growth was demolishing the whole building like it was nothing.

"That's muuuuch better!" Saturn exclaimed as he began to stretch, "That building got really cramped after I started growing."

Saturn stopped growing after a minute or so, sitting on the remains of the apartment complex like the seat of a chair. He was already preeetty big, but far from his limit. He was only a couple hundred feet tall.

"Are you all done already?" Saturn said as he squished his massive tummy, "This isn't even a warm up for me Kajex."

Kajex shook off some shock as he laid there on Saturn's massive belly, rummaging through his pockets to pull out the next form of growth to use on his dear friend.

"L-Let's see here uh..." Kajex awkwardly chuckled to himself as he grabbed something metallic, "This one oughta do!"

Kajex whipped out the growth ray from his coat. Saturn had to squint a bit to get a good look at it as Kajex fiddled with the settings.

"You think that ray will get anywhere near my warm ups?" Saturn half teased as she sloshed his tummy around, "Still feeling quite small." "I-I hope it will," Kajex mumbled as the ray began to warm up.

Kajex took aim at Saturn's stomach as he readied his trigger finger, looking up at Saturn's face before pulling the trigger.

"R-Ready?" Kajex asked meekly as Saturn nodded. "You know I am," Saturn smiled as Kajex pulled the trigger and released a bright, green beam.

In that instance Saturn's belly began to ripple like a stone falling into a pond as a green aura formed around Saturn before he began to grow again.

"Hehe, this one kinda tickles!" Saturn chuckled as he continued to grow even more. "I-I can kinda see why," Kajex blushed as he tried to keep his aim steady, "I-I think I was told that'd be a side effect of this one."

Saturn kept growing and chuckling at the feeling, his swelling thicccness leveling building after building as he just took it all in with glee.

"Mmmmmm, still feels nice," Saturn remarked as he laid down and let Kajex sink into his belly. "I-I think I like it more," Kajex thought as he tried to keep his focus.

Saturn just grew and grew as Kajex remained dead set on draining the ray's battery. Saturn was leveling the entire city after just a few minutes of growth. Neither of them minded this of course.

"Still got pleeeenty of battery in this ray!" Kajex exclaimed as he swapped hands. "Good," Saturn replied as he adjusted himself, "I'll just soak in the sun while I wait."

Saturn put his hands behind his head and crossed his legs like he was laying on a towel at the beach. The tickling sensation had mostly died away now, but it was nothing all that bothersome to him now anyways.

"D-Dang he still feels like this isn't a warm up doesn't he?" Kajex thought as the battery was beginning to run low, "A-At this rate 'I'll have to use my powers on him at the end..."

The beam was beginning to flicker now. Saturn was at least the size of a dozen cities and then some, but to him this was nothing. Kajex was still not even in warm up territory and he only had three methods left to him, two of which were very limited.

"That little thing is already running low on batteries?" Saturn asked, "I was just getting comfy on this country too."

Saturn sat up as the battery completely died. He was easily bigger than Mt. Everest now as he accidentally squished Kajex between his belly rolls, making it hard for him to grab the next item to use next.

"Oh well, what can ya do?" Saturn remarked with a soft shrug, "If we weren't making a bet I'd grow tenfold by now."

Kajex was trying to pry his arm free from Saturn's rolls just to give him some extra wiggle room. He liked the feeling of being surrounded by a big belly, but he wanted to grow his bud even more.

"Y-Yeah I'll make sure to grow you more than tenfold with this next one," Kajex struggled as he continued, "I-If I could pull my arm free..."

Saturn smiled as he heard Kajex's adorable little grumble and plucked him from his belly rolls, dangling him in the air at eye level by his tiny tail with a smile.

"D'awwww you're so adorable when you're this tiny," Saturn remarked as he looked at the smol Lucario. "I-I'm not that cute!" Kajex said as he flailed about all flustered, "Y-You're just seeing things!"

Saturn chuckled as he saw Kajex glow up like a tiny christmas light, which didn't help Kajex's case in the slightest.

"But you look even more adorable now!" Saturn smiled as Kajex got into his coat pockets. "I-I wanna hear you say that when you're so big you can't even see me!" Kajex countered.

After another minute of panicked shuffling, Kajex finally managed to pull out the next growth method, the strange remote that seemingly had no purpose.

"Th-The satellite's up next?" Kajex asked himself curiously as he held the remote, "G-Guess the most potent of the 4 should be saved for last."

Kajex began to mess with the settings on the remote as Saturn stretched out as he got himself ready for this next one.

"This one is gonna be a BIG one!" Kajex exclaimed as Saturn looked at him curiously. "Let's see if this'll live up to my expectations,"

Kajex finished messing with the settings, taking a deep breath as he held his finger on the ON button.

"Here we go!" Kajex exclaimed as he pushed the button, "Round three!"

Nothing was happening though even after Kajex pushed the button. Kajex knew why, but Saturn was confused for a brief moment.

"Is that thing broken or something?" Saturn asked curiously, "I don't feel anythi-

Before he even had a chance to finish his sentence he was BLASTED with a red beam from the heavens that caused Saturn to grow at a rapid pace and accidentally send Kajex flying off of him and landing in a plain below when he lost his grip on Kajex.

"O-Ouch," Kajex groaned as he tried to screw his head on. "Oh now THIS is the good stuff!" Saturn exclaimed as he soared beyond the heavens.

Saturn was growing FAR more than the previous two spurts already. Kajex has set this ray to use 100% of it's battery and the growth rate to max. He was determined to make Saturn bigger than earth with this one.

"Th-The last two were just warm ups!" Kajex exclaimed as he rolled over and rubbed his back, "Th-These last two are the cream of the crop!" "I can see that!" Saturn exclaimed as he grew beyond country size.

Saturn was completely smothering the land beneath him, including a now dust speck sized Kajex stuck somewhere beneath his thigh. His head tore through layer after layer of the atmosphere until he could see the vast, starry void of space and was STILL growing.

"Mmmm yes, bigger! Bigger!" Saturn exclaimed as he soaked in the feeling like he was sunbathing.

After just a bit longer Saturn could see the tiny satellite that was making him grow just orbiting the earth and keeping it's gaze fixated on him.

"So that's why it took a bit for the growth to kick in," Saturn remarked as one of his feet dipped into the ocean, "That thing had to pinpoint me first."

Saturn was now the size of a continent and able to reach out for that satellite like it was an ornament dangling from the ceiling. He was slowly beginning to break away from earth's gravity.

"Th-This has to be at least the warm up phase for him!" Kajex thought as Saturn began to push himself off of earth, "Lilith's spell won't last forever when I use it."

Saturn broke away from earth when he grew enough to be a second moon for it. He continued to grow until the satellite battery finally died, but by that point he was as big as the earth itself.

"Okay, noooooow I feel like you're starting to get somewhere Kajex," Saturn asked as he looked around him, "... Kajex?"

Kajex was stuck in the middle of the continent sized crater Saturn left behind as Kajex looked up at the moon sized pupil of his enormous friend.

"I-I'm still on earth Saturn!" Kajex exclaimed as he flailed about, "That last growth spurt sent me flying!"

Saturn could tell Kajex was in the crater with his microscopic pleas, but couldn't quite see him. He wasn't the best at micro spotting at that size. Kajex was luckily Saturn had the best hearing.

"I can' see ya cutie," Saturn replied in a voice able to be heard by the whole planet, "Can you give me a signal or something?"

Kajex blushed brightly as his own promise backfired on him. He had to think of a way to give Saturn his location, and he had one idea to do so.

"S-Saturn!" Kajex exclaimed as he rummaged through his coat, "I'm gonna use the next growth method and it should point you right to me!" "If you say so," Saturn replied as he kept looking, "Keeping my eyes peeled."

Kajex pulled out the slip of paper, shaking slightly as he read the incantation in his head before actually reading it aloud.

"Oh there you are!" Saturn exclaimed as he saw an unusual purple light twinkle from the crater, "Sorry that I let you slip away like that cutie."

Saturn plucked the little Lucario from the crater and set him on top of his belly again as he continued to utter the chant. The purple light was beginning to turn into a glowing mist that seeped into Saturn's body like a plant absorbing sunlight. It was a tingly feeling.

"Oooo, this one feels all warm and tingly," Saturn remarked as Kajex kept his focus on completing the spell, the paper glowing a bright purple, "This is the magic spell if I recall."

Saturn's body began to quake and rumble with the force of a worldwide earthquake as the magic pumped through his veins and became even more powerful by the heartbeat.

"The magic feels like it's swelling inside of me," Saturn exclaimed as the paper ignited in purple flames, "This one's gonna be huuuuge!"

The paper turned into ash as Kajex finished the incantation with the ashes seeping into Saturn's body as he began to grow again.

"Wh-Whoa!" Kajex stammered as he flicked his hands from side to side, "Lilith didn't tell me the paper was gonna set itself on fire!"

Saturn was paying no mind to that however. His mind was overcome with the swelling growth sensation that was making him grow far larger than earth and nearing the point where he lives up to his name.

"Let's see how potent that spell really is!" Saturn said in glee as he took up the sun in the eyes of the tinies below. "I-It's Lilith's magic so it's pretty powerful," Kajex squealed as he clung to Saturn's stomach.

Saturn swelled bigger and bigger in waves. First he doubled the size of earth, then tripled, then continued to swell all the way to Saturn size and still continued to grow. The spell was nowhere near done.

"A-Although even I didn't expect that it'd make you bigger than Jupiter," Kajex stuttered as the earth grew more and more distant.

The growth waves grew more and more powerful. After just a few more surges he was the size of the sun and yet the look on Saturn's face proved he was still far from his limit.

"This is the best method yet!" Saturn exclaimed as he squished his sun sized belly, "feels nice and has results!"

Saturn's growth pulses kept going. He was now the size of the solar system when the growth began to slow down... but only for a brief moment.

"Awww, it's already slowing down?" Saturn said as he drifted away from the sun, "It was just starting to get go-"

The growth had completely stopped for a moment as the feeling kept swelling inside of him like he was absorbing a bomb inside of him that was constantly exploding.

"I-I think the remainder of the magic is gonna build up," Kajex began as he clung tighter to Saturn's belly, "F-For a final sur-"

Kajex couldn't even finish his statement before Saturn EXPLODED with growth. His size was at least TRIPLE the previous size as the magic died out. He could eat the solar system like it was a bunch of pieces of candy.

"Oooooo, that's more like it!" Saturn exclaimed as he looked at the tiny solar system dance in front of his eyes.

Saturn's mouth was beginning to water at the idea of devouring those planets. All the growing has seemed to make him quite famished as well.

"Well Kajex," Saturn began as he reached for earth, "Is that all?" "Y-Yeah," Kajex said in a little white lie, "I-I'm out of growth methods."

Saturn swallowed earth whole in one bite before reaching for the next one to curb his appetite, his stomach still giving loud grumbles.

"Well this is only a warm up for me cutie," Saturn remarked after he ate the next planet, "So I guess you're gonna be living on my tummy for a while."

Saturn began to eat planet after planet as Kajex slipped on his hood, snickering very softly to himself as his eyes gave a very faint glow.

"We'll see who's cuter when I catch you off guard," Kajex snickered as he rubbed his palms together, "And there's no way it'd be me!"

The glow in his eyes only became brighter by the planet. Saturn swallowed them all with ease as he felt his stomach fill up. After he capped things off with the sun he let out a sigh of relief and kicked back.

"That hit the spot," Saturn remarked as he stared into the seemingly endless sea of space. "Bet this'll feel a bit better though," Kajex countered as he flopped onto Saturn's belly like a bed.

A Dyanamax red light formed all over the pieces of Kajex's body that touched Saturn's body as Kajex began to pump Dynamax energy into his body, catching Saturn off guard.

"O-Oh?" Saturn stammered as he began to grow one final time, "Since when could you do this?" "O-Only recently," Kajex exclaimed as he continued to pour the Dynamax energy into Saturn.

Saturn's body was growing even faster thanks to the potency of Kajex's Dynamax energy. He was already swelling to nebula size and beyond as Kajex focused extra hard on pouring every scrap of energy he could.

"Well I can certainly say this is a surprise," Saturn softly smiled as he looked down at the tiny, red glow on his belly, "Guess you wanted to save your trump card when I was least expecting it."

Kajex was beginning to sweat as Saturn swelled beyond galaxy size. Kajex's glow was like a star twinkling in the distance on his stomach now.

"I'm gonna make you as big as I possibly can!" Kajex exclaimed as the glow intensified, "I'm gonna win this bet!"

Saturn was growing even faster now. His own expanding mass was forcing entire galaxies to fly apart and stick to him like glue and adorn his body as he neared the edges of the universe.

"Still warming up here," Saturn thought as he slurped up some galaxies on his lips like they were milk, "Think you can do it?"

Kajex was losing steam as Saturn pressed against the edges of the universe. He was glowing red, but he wanted to go beyond the universe's size. He had a gut feeling that'd be his limit.

"I'm gonna make you outgrow the universe!" Kajex gritted as he was pressed against the boundary, "I don't give up so easily!"

The universe was incredibly cramped as Saturn continued to grow. It was like filling a balloon with air until it popped, but it was quite uncomfortable for Saturn at least.

"I need this universe to pop!" Saturn gritted as he felt a hole tear in the universe's boundary.

Just moments after he said that, he had done so, making the universe pop like a balloon before he stretched out and swelled further beyond universe size, but Kajex had hit his limit.

"H-Heh..." Kajex chuckled as the Dynamax glow began to die out.

Even when the glow went away Saturn still grew for a while, able to examine all the small universes like they were pieces of an art exhibit, but when it died out he could tell Kajex was completely drained.

"Is the teeny, tiny cutie all tired?" Saturn asked as he gently moved his arms to hug the general area of where Kajex is. "M-Mhm," Kajex nodded as he began to doze off, "R-Really pushed it here.."

Saturn began to hug his tiny friend extra close as he began to sleep away and snooze like a puppy.

"And before you completely doze off," Saturn began as he snuggled his friend extra close, "You baaaarely managed to pull it off."

Kajex knew Saturn was just giving him the win. He has heard tales of him being far larger than this, but he accepted it. He just knew next time to have a few more growth methods on standby and began to dream about what else he could use next time.

"I'll wake you up later," Saturn smirked softly as Kajex completely passed out before he began to grow himself to his actual limit...