

Tiny Pitten Paws 3: Maternity photoshoot

The story now starts in the house of the loving couple, proud parents to be Syd the cat and Dylan the husky, Syd was already 8 whole months pregnant, she had gotten quite big obviously.

A bigger belly and wider hips mainly, not like the couple minded, they both enjoyed the assets of this pregnancy, she was way past the point of morning sickness, but cravings and hormones have just gotten worse, or better depending on the situation since it meant that Syd could at least eat as much as she craved and hormones, well you know.

At this point, her unborn pittens were kicking more and generally being more active than at other points of her pregnancy, at this point the movement could be seen and clearly be felt on her big belly, something they both enjoyed, specially the husky, he could finally see and feel his kids move around inside his mate's growing belly, at first Syd was the only one who could barely feel faint signals of movements, now that has changed, and Dylan just couldn't stay away from her and her belly for too long, every single time his pittens moved, he was there, resting one of his soft paws or head on his kitty's belly, he was simply amazed by the experience.

"Wakey wakey" The husky heard, his ears automatically perked up... yet he was not responding "Wakey wakey, preggy uhhh 'wifey' talking" Then he started to open up his eyes slowly, and there she was, his very optimistic and pregnant cat wife, the moment Syd saw her husky open up his eyes she leaned forward and booped his nose with her nose.

"Oh, hey Syd, morning" He said, seemingly surprised "What are you doing awake this soon babe?" He wondered as he slowly stood up and stretched, then decided to shake a bit for good measure and not fall back to the tempting bed.

"Well it's not even thaaaaaat soon, it's barely past 8 AM" She mentioned, Dylan in response looked at the clock next to the bed and checked that it indeed was barely past 8 AM like his Cat said "Huh, you're right, it's just that I tend to wake up a bit earlier than you" Said the blue husky, wasting no time to walk to his wife and give her a hug, Syd in response embraced the hug and buried her face on Dylan's fur "I know puppy, but it gets a bit hard to sleep when these kids are like a built-in alarm clock sometimes" She giggled "Not that I mind of course" Dylan chuckled too and put one of his paws on his mate's belly "Morning to you too pittens" Syd smiled and looked back at him.

"Besides, I wouldn't wanna be late for today's session, I'm very excited" Almost as if the statement took him off guard, the husky stood there for a couple of seconds, which seemed like large minutes for him... he forgot about something "Call me an idiot if you want, but what's today's date?".

"You're not an idiot, but you are definitely my blue dorky husky, the maternity photo shoot Dylan" She said with clear excitement coming from her voice "Oh, THAT 'Today's date' Right, no wonder you're excited, after all, you did told me you wanted your pregnancy and maternal side captured in a more professional way" He said, even though he forgot about it, he quickly got excited and happy for Syd "Yup, date's at 5 PM so we have plenty of time to get ready for it, a nice breakfast, a shower and we can practice with 'the kids' we haven't done that in a while" Said the cat.

"Right, the 'kids' we better practice that at least every two days before the real deal" Said the husky as he walked towards the closet in the room, opening it up and bringing with him three Pokemon Eevee plushes and sitting them on their bed as the husky sat down in front of them, staring and moving his head sideways at all of them "I still can't believe the paternity course recommended plushes for practice" He assured, Syd in response gently bumped him "It is kinda cute though, and to imagine our actual kids will be sitting in front of us learning everything from us! Besides, when I told you I was pregnant, one of the first things that came to your mind is how you'll teach the kids to play videogames" She looked over at her husband and winked with a grin on her face, she knew him very well "And I still will teach them how to play videogames, but I was saying it more like, why plushes? Its not like we're getting any answers from them, but it was a good idea to pick Eeves" Said the blue husky as he chuckled and bumped back his wife, taking a moment to lean down and kiss her belly "You three are still my favorites though" Syd blushed in returned and pawed the husky on his face "Oh hush you, anyway, I'm going to make breakfast now, you stay and spend some time with the kids"

Dylan simply stood there, sitting down as Syd made her way down to the kitchen to cook their breakfast, Dylan kept looking at the plushes and judged with his stare as he patted one of them on the head "Who am I kidding? You three are so damn adorable” He admitted as his tail, unbeknown to him began to move left to right uncontrollably, his more natural senses started to come in as he got into a play position, upper chest and head touching the floor as he looked at the plushes, in his mind, he was already trying to imagine how it would be when his kids were here, he could only think on how he’ll play videogames with them, play catch with the, even teach them how to howl properly, all of those thoughts at once just filled him with joy and he needed to show it somehow.

The minutes passed and Syd finished with their breakfast and set it on the table, yet decided to wait a bit to call in her husky as she could clearly hear him jumping up and down the room, she liked hearing that enjoyment coming from him, huskies were always very active and Dylan sometimes wasn’t even trying to hide his happiness ever since he knew they were going to be parents, until the pittens started to kick and jostle around her belly “I hear you loud and clear” She said as she placed one of her paws on her belly “Hey proud dad to be! Breakfast’s ready, get your overactive ass here! Kid’s are hungry” “COMING” It’s all she heard in return, Syd sat down and in less than a minute Dylan walked down the stairs and sat down on his spot “Sorry for the delay, I was” He was suddenly stopped by Syd who said “I know, getting carried over with the plushkids” She said with already a mouthful, making the husky scoff a bit “Well... yeah I was, what can I say? We huskies get carried over at times...At even the simplest things, I can’t help it” He chuckled nervously as his tail wagged behind him as he started to dig down his breakfast, stopping a moment to grab his tail and bite it “Stof movfin” In return Syd laughed and said “Well then pup, how is it that you’re going to eat?” Dylan just stared into the void for a moment and let go of his tail “My tail wins this time”

The day seemed to pass quickly for the loving couple, after finishing their breakfast the couple decided to relax for a couple of hours, they decided to play games for a while together with their plushkids next to them on top of the bed so they got ‘front row seats’ of the show. “Oh you’ve learned but I’m still the master around here, i was the one who taught you how to play” The husky playfully mocked Syd, in return the cat mocked him back with a tone of voice that made her sound as if she was intentionally bragging “Weeeeeeeeeeeell babe, remember who kicked your ass in smash the first time i played against you with practice” Dylan got lost in his mind for a couple of seconds to remember that VERY special time...

It was many months ago, Syd and Dylan were both playing super smash together, they were on the character selection screen, Dylan picked Banjo & Kazooie and Syd picked Mewtwo, Dylan was far more experienced and he did pick his main in the game, Syd wasn’t set on a character yet, after practicing for a while together and helping Syd play and enjoy the game too, Syd challenged Dylan for one match, the husky surprised, excited and kinda confident proudly accepted the challenge, he turned on the game and picked his control and got everything set for a formal match, they sat down and grabbed their control, they had their characters and their match started, Dylan at first went easy, much to his surprise Syd wasn't holding back, she took a stock from the three the husky had "Not bad" he said and quickly brought it back to an even game, the game went on for another minute, Syd was at a higher % than Dylan, she then managed to get Dylan out of the stage, and right as he was trying to come back Syd leaned over to Dylan and whispered right into his ear "I'm pregnant" her soft and somewhat teasing words came out of her mouth and seemed to make Dylan lose all focus, the husky looked down and blushed hard, he was frozen, his tail way ahead of his reaction, wagging like crazy, Syd managed to get her plan to work as it intended, Dylan couldn't bring his character back to the stage, lost his second stock and Syd went back to focus on the game, a couple of seconds passed and 'MEWTWO WINS' was heard across the room "HAH! What did I told you" She said as she jumped and kissed her husky's cheek "When you're ready to celebrate about the pregnancy with me, I'll be waiting downstairs" She knew very well how to tease him playfully and she decided to bump him with her flat belly, she walked to the door of the room and said "See you soon daddy to be"

Back to his senses the husky snapped as he finished his little memory "Of course, how could I forget about that day, you still owe me that rematch tho, this time I won't get caught off guard by another pregnancy since you're currently pregnant" The husky chuckled and gave his wife a friendly bump

"Well, I'm sure I'll still find a way, either way, I'm certain I WILL kick your butt, but maybe next time, we'd better get ready for the photoshoot Dyl" she exclaimed with clear excitement for what's to come "Alright, just one more match pleeeeeeease" Before Dylan could say or do anything else Syd already knew what was going on in his mind "Alright, one more match, I'll say yes just so you don't give me the puppy eyes" "But you like em" He said with a cheeky smile "I do, but I already know your tricks" The husky simply chuckled and nodded "My wife knows me very well"

Time passed and 5 PM arrived, the couple excitedly made their way to photo studio which luckily for Syd, wasn't too far away from their home, walking great distances had started to become a bit of a hassle for her due to the pregnancy, mainly because her belly had gotten quite big at this point it was only inches away from touching the ground, she really hoped she the belly wasn't going to grow that much, after all, she was in the home stretch of her pregnancy, it's not like her belly was going to keep growing.

After walking for a couple of minutes, and Dylan threatening every single crack on the floor, and even the rays of the sun from hurting his heavily pregnant wife, he had good intentions and Syd clearly had fun seeing him being his protective dork in white armor, after all of that the couple arrived to the photo studio, Syd opened the front door and waited for Dylan to pass in, then she passed inside, the studio they were in was a studio which specialized in maternity pictures, Syd heard of it from a couple of friends some months ago and she just couldn't resist but to check the place to get maternity pictures.

The studio was full of different promotions, mainly with a lot of framed pictures of moms to be, and other maternity related services like Yoga or midwives, Syd's tail wagged as she saw the many pictures of other pregnant females, she couldn't help but think they all looked great, very maternal as she would say and around her head was only the thought that she will be taking pictures like that in mere minutes, proudly showing off her maternal side, after all, she always wanted to kinda brag about her pregnant body, she definitely found it full of perks.

"Hello, we are here for a date of a full maternity photoshoot at 5 PM" Dylan said to a rather small silver fox that worked at the desk of the studio.

"Oh yes, could you give me your names please" The fox asked as he grabbed a tablet and turned it on "Its Dylan and Syd, we've got an appointment at 5 PM" the husky told the fox as he checked the appointments on the tablet, all while Syd was still fascinated by the many pictures on the walls hoping to look as beautiful and natural as those expectant moms on the pictures.

"Ah yes, Mr. Dylan and Mrs. Syd, our photographer is ready, please head over to the studio through the door on your right" The fox politely said "Heard that Syd? Let's go to the.." Syd was already entering the studio before Dylan could finish his sentence "Let me guess, it's her first time and she's eager about it" The silver fox asked, Dylan only nodded and said "Totally, well, I'll better get to her before the pictures are taken, I want to see, anyway thanks!"

Syd entered the studio with her husky right behind her "Look at this place! Is that where I'll be taken pictures? How shall I pose? Something Sexy? Something meaningful?" She wasn't really hiding her excitement "I don't know, but that's why we got a professional photographer"

"Professional, at least on the Maternity field" A soft voice came out of a door, which belonged to a female pink Dingo who passed through the door to the studio "Pleasure to meet you two, name's Sasha, and I will be taking the maternity photos you two requested"

"Pleasure to meet you" Said the couple "Im Syd, the mother to be and soon to be photograph material too, so, how shall we start?" Syd was more excited than before, actually being there, so close to being photographed really amplified her excitement more, and more "An excited mom to be too, great, that's just what I need" Said the Dingo "Go to the dressers to the left and put on what you requested"

Without any doubt Syd walked to the dresser and after a couple of minutes she came out with a black ribbon that was finely wrapped around her belly and a crown of blue and pink flowers "How do I look pup?" She asked Dylan, who was checking out his pregnant kitty "Looking fine and motherly hun...very motherly" He complimented "Thank yooooooooou, now, how should I pose for this one" She asked to the Dingo, to what her response was "For this shot, we will go with a natural background, so I thought of a well illuminated forest, oh as for the pose, how about one that makes you look very proud of being pregnant, one that shows off your belly maybe while you're stretching if you're comfortable doing that, so for that, get on that stool, front paws only and stretch your back paws" Syd did as she was told and quickly got into the position she was asked to do, she was indeed comfortable stretching out for the picture.

Sasha was looking through the camera "It looks good so far...hmm, maybe move your head so you're looking back, but I want your view and your eyes looking slightly upwards" Syd did just as she was told and got into the position, smiling and blushing ever so slightly "Okay I got the shot, now I'll need you to stay put for a couple of seconds and..." Click Click Click, three snaps could be heard from the camera "All right, you're a natural Syd" Sasha complimented "She is definitely the motherly type" Also complimented the husky who was just lost to the sight.

"Alright, as for this next one, grab the picture of your first ultrasound and lay down on that bed" Sasha pointed to the bed with purple sheets that was on the left part of the room, all prepared for her photo, the bed had some white roses on top of it and the bed alone already looked comfortable for Syd, she already had the big picture of her ultrasound with her, she climbed the bed and laid down gently, looking at the camera which was now on top of her "Hey Dyl, look at the ultrasound, remember when they weren't so big?" She joked and chuckled as she patted her belly to really emphasize on how big their kids were getting "How could I forget? Back then you weren't this round" "Yet you like this roundness" She teased "Never said I didn't: The husky answered and blew a kiss over at Syd who 'grabbed' the kiss and put it on her cheek.

"Alright Syd, lay down, looking up to the camera and holding the picture of the ultrasound with one of her paws, smiling and looking directly into the camera..."

After taking that and a couple more pictures on the bed "Alright, two more, for this one, lay on your side, one paw on your belly and the other one holding the ultrasound picture "Easy enough, watch me" Syd said already in her position.

"Time for the last pic on the bed, this time, let's get Mr dad to appear in this one" Sasha said while looking at the blue Husky and pointing to the bed "Do you two usually cuddle or do some spooning on the bed?" She asked over at the couple "Totally" they both said, pretty much knowing what the picture would be Syd stayed in her position and Dylan laid down behind her and wrapped his paws around Syd and her belly, just as if they were home "Alright, the position is just fine, just Syd, put the picture in front of your belly please" Syd placed the picture in front of her and looked back at Dylan to give him a boop on the snoot with hers.

After many more pictures, different poses, some with or without Dylan in it, the couple went out of the picture studio, making sure to thank Sasha and the receptionist Fox, making sure to tell Sasha that they wanted to book an appointment in a couple of months to have another photoshoot, but this time with their pittens, the couple went back to their home and straight to their bedroom, they played some games, cuddled and fell asleep together.

A week passed and to their home came a package, they were both pretty certain of what it was, yet the couple felt excited, they took the package to the living room and opened it, it was indeed the maternity album with Syd's pictures, all of them, they loved that album "Look at you Syd, you really are a natural with this" The husky assured as he kissed his mate "Yes, I think I look good with a couple of flowers on me, oh and look!" She said as she changed page to the last couple of pages of the album which were empty, but with pockets to put more pictures “This album won’t be complete until we got pictures with our pittens, don’t you think hun?” Her eyes lighted up to see Dylan as they both smiled and kissed “Just a couple of weeks babe, very soon” The husky said eagerly “Yeah, very, very soon” They kissed again and Syd started to rub her belly, Dylan did the same, holding her paw and rubbing together.

Soon she will give birth