

Stay out of my area.

I told them to stay out of my area.

They never listen.

Another one of them has fallen to me. Another "challenger" decided that they'd waste their life away, because they think they can take my soul.

They cannot.

I'm better than them and that's how it'll always be. Here comes another one. They're shaking. Hmph, it's disgraceful that they even came here! They only have some weird cleaver in their grimy paws. Tears are welling up in their fear-filled eyes and falling down to the ground.

I almost felt bad until they ran up to me.

I needn't move. My power struck from above and crushed them at my feet. They were still alive somehow.

Annoying. I let them get up for a few seconds. They attacked at my face, but I grabbed their hand and eradicated it before he could do anything else. They let out a hellish scream and backed up.

They backed up right into me. Unfortunate.

The challenger slowly turned to me and looked up at me with even more fear than before. I'm surprised they survived my first attack. Probably because I'm only playing with my food at this point. I expected them to try something else, but my presence isn't enough to handle alone.

I grinned and grabbed their neck. They tried escaping from my deadly grasp, but it is no use when you're against me. I squeezed their neck, and they almost passed out from that squeeze alone.

Seeing a slight change for once excited me a little, but it wasn't enough to satisfy.

I killed the challenger by crushing their neck. I watched the life fade from their eyes. Blood poured from their mouth and eyes. Then I dropped their body onto the floor and I was back in my area right after.

Stay out of my area.

Stay out of my area, for I am the boss around here.