

The demonwings live in geologically active areas they usually don't go out they are named after volcanoes and other geological formations the wisest of the demonwings are named Yellowstone (male) and Everest (female)

The demonwings scale and underbelly colors vary depending on the name of the geological formations the ones named after mountains and volcanoes are royalty those names after canyons are librarians those named after craters, hills, buttes and many more are workers, soldiers, farmers and more

The wings and horns of the demonwings are based off of demons with the royalty having curled horns like a ram