

I've decided to give this a try, so why not? In this experiment, I am starting story YCH commissions with one of my guys - Alfieri Avlar. You can view his information here:

The YCH scenes are below with the titles in parentheses. These are priced at $10 / 1k AC!

YCH 1: "Oh hello! You must be here for my photoshoot! Are you the substitute by any chance?" Since the main photographer called in sick, Alfieri had to find a replacement photographer to fill in for his modeling session. Imagine the surprise of [Your Character Here] working with this lion! (Substitute Photographer)

YCH 2: Alfieri brushes part of his large mane away, visibly shaking at the case file in his hands. This is a case of self-defense with the details pointing to his client as the killer. But he knows the evidence against them says otherwise. All he needs is witness testimony and timing of evidence proof, and together, he and his new co-counsel partner will turn the tables. Turning to [Your Character Here], Alfieri clears his throat, "So, are you ready to tackle this case? Now is the time to decide." (Murder or Self-Defense?)

YCH 3: "I don't know about you but that was an amazing trial! We had fun and we exposed another murderer!" Alfieri gleefully expresses his approval in another job well done, reflecting on the recent trial. [Your Character Here] stands beside him, also proud of the results. (Reflection)

YCH 4: Whistling to himself, Alfieri is casually cleaning his classic Maserati A6GCS/53, hosing the classic car down with water first. The shirtless lion knows how long the process will take, given he could have just took a trip to the car wash instead. But he decided to do it the manual way, and on a hot summer day at that. Some assistance could be helpful right about now. (Summer Car Wash)

YCH 5: "At times, I worry about my brother; at the same time, he is capable of handling himself. If I was with him, I'd only slow him down. What do you think?" Alfieri rests against the balcony while reflecting on his older brother, longing to just see his face again. The younger lion has reason to worry, but is aware that he can take care of himself. (Brotherly Reflection)

YCH 6: "You must really like my abs that much, don't you? You're staring awfully hard. My eyes are up here, not down there." Another day at the local gym and Alfieri could not resist showing off at his corner. Of course, being the popular guy he is, this always tends to attract attention. One of those clients happens to be [Your Character Here]. (Admiration)