

Nafster: Nafster is my main fursona - a snow leopard. He acts like me, talks like me, dresses like me, he's basically me except with fur and a tail. "In-universe," Nafster tends to transform a lot, so much so he expects it frequently. A bit of a regular ol' dude, nothing special about him, he's just there to vibe.

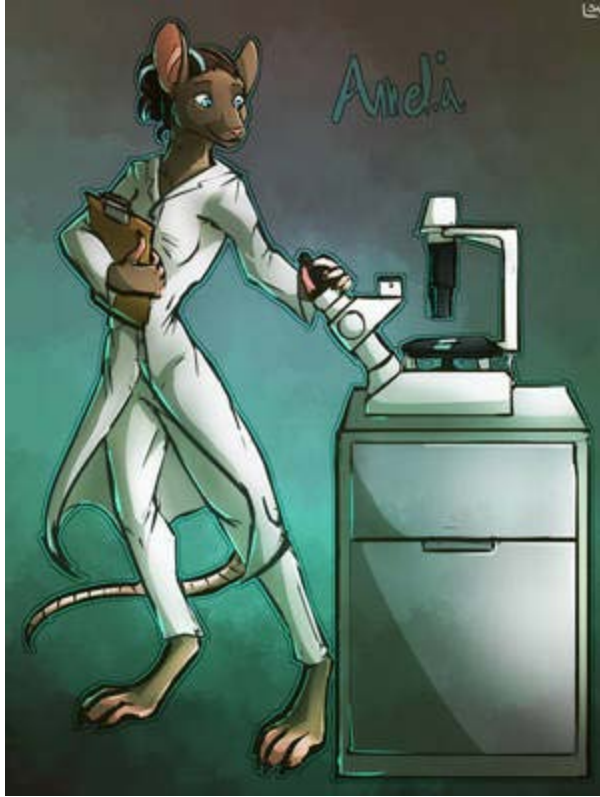

Gwen: Gwen is the product of Nafster getting transformed for an extended period of time, forced to take on an entirely new mind and personality, essentially being turned into an entirely different person in every way and being locked in that form - a female purple raccoon. Gwen is snarky, sarcastic, and confident. She rides bikes and hangs out at bars where she can be found drinking and hustling pool. After a while, Nafster reverted back to his original body, though Gwen still finds herself taking over again every so often.

Thalia: An ancient wyvern witch brought to the present thanks to Nafster putting on a cursed hat. She's a sorceress trickster who takes delight in transforming others. Vain and fun-loving, Thalia is no stranger to transforming others into her loyal servants. Her curses can technically be broken, but it's just very, very hard to do so.

Patricia: Patricia is a pink weasel who runs her own potion shop. She's not exactly bright, and doesn't have much of a filter, saying her thoughts out loud and not thinking before she says anything. She's goofy, silly, and a bit air-headed. Her potion shop is capable of turning people into anything for a certain amount of time, ranging from a day to permanence. Her shop is simply called "Patricia's," because she just thinks her name is cool.

Amelia: Amelia was once a human man, but after an experiment gone awry, they accidentally turned themselves into an anthropomorphic rat woman. She wound up loving the new body, and decided to stay that way, changing her name to Amelia and continuing her scientific endeavors. She specializes in creating inventions, often transformation-focused, and shows them off in a video blog called Invention of the Week.

Nikki: Nick Scully used to be a human detective, who took on a job to investigate disappearances involving a notorious criminal organization known as “The Moons.” They discovered Nick digging into their business and sent a message by turning him into a vixen. However, he took this change in stride, starting to go by the name Nikki as she works to take down the entire Moons organization.

Olivia: Oliva Bauer is the doe host of the hit show “This Doesn’t Make Sense At All!” It’s a weird and wacky show where anything can happen, usually transformation, and ends when someone says the name of the show. Despite her goofy personality on camera, Olivia is quite refined and professional in person. She was originally a model before getting hired as a game show host.

Jesse and Jessica: Jesse is a raccoon man who originally had the fur pattern of a normal raccoon. However, after an incident at Amelia's lab, his fur turned orange. While already strange, what was stranger was that it formed another person within him - Jessica. She was essentially a female version of Jesse in appearance, though has a different personality entirely. The two can swap between one another, but only one can be active at a time, so they're either Jesse or Jessica, but both can't exist at the same time. Jesse is arrogant and snooty with a large distaste for transformation. Meanwhile, Jessica is very shy and introverted, but loves transformation because it's part of the reason she exists now. Despite Jesse's dislike of transformation, the raccoons run a shop that offers Transformation Sprays because it was too good of a business idea to pass up, with the sprays transforming someone until a reversal spray is sprayed on them. Jesse handles the financial and business aspects, while Jessica handles the transformations themselves.

Kassandra: Kassandra is a party skunk.

She loves hosting events at her loft where she makes sure everyone is having a good time, even if she has to transform a wet blanket into someone more fun. She's sarcastic, but is all about having fun. Kassandra also ain't waking up until the afternoon at least, she's the biggest night owl there is.

Selena: Selena is a lemur woman with a temper.

Long ago, she was given the power to transform anyone into an inanimate object by looking into their eyes with her own. She has glasses that prevent her from doing this by mistake, but if you tick her off, you are likely ending up as a pair of short, a bra, or any other kind of clothing. Before, she would just toss them into the donation bin, but is now making an active effort to work on her anger after learning about her origins of being someone else entirely who transformed her friend into the very glasses that stop her from transforming others.

Selena runs a fashion company, though doesn't respect anyone but her fox assistant Nikki (not the Nikki fighting the Moons...but who knows if that was an ancestor of hers...), who helps her work on her anger management and is responsible for reverting the changes she makes to the people she transforms when the anger flares up. Selena is a businesswoman at heart, but is level-headed when her annoyances aren't being affected.

Cindy: Cindy is a Braixen witch who dropped out of college after transforming her professor into a Caterpie. She wanders around the world, seeing who she can transform for her own amusement. The transformations are always Pokemon, and are either feral or anthro. Full of youthful vigor, she works to perfect her magic, using the unknowing population as her practice.

Derek: Derek is a parrot man who has a big disdain for humans. He possesses a pocketwatch capable of hypnotizing someone so much that it even affects their very atoms, allowing him to transform them into whatever he says. He only works on humans, hypnotizing them to give them a better life where they don't have to worry about being human at all by turning them into an anthropomorphic animal with a new memory so they won't have to remember ever being human. While his hatred for humans is not kept secret, he does pity them and works to erase their humanity. He's soft-spoken and very elegant in his words, and is very polite to any non-humans he comes across.

Janet: Janet is a very girly girl. She's energetic and bubbly, always one for enjoying a girl's night out or a trip to the mall. For a job, she works as a painter, painting people into another species for commissioners online. The model gets to keep the painting, and the commissioner gets the picture of what they ordered holding up the painting. She usually surprises the model, and they don't realize they're changing until it's over. However, Janet is always able to turn them back, they just have to bring a picture of their old self and she'll paint them right back to normal!

Dianne: Dianne is a hipster, if that wasn't obvious! She's a bit pushy in wanting other people to be unique, and "helps" them to become more unique by transforming them into uncommon species. Despite being a common species herself, she claims she "makes it work" so she doesn't need to do anything to herself. She records herself transforming others and uploads it to her blog, and her magic ol' camera can help make the person she changes see things from her perspective, helping them "realize" that she was right, they did need a change!

Bobby: Bobby used to be a human man, but after giving up a treasure to a spirit, he was gifted the power of agility - in the form of a female feline body. She didn't mind it, and continued her hustling, treasure hunting, and heists. She's no stranger to working with others, but always has self-interest in mind, so she's no stranger to throwing others under the bus if it means she'll get away or get more of a reward if she shows up solo! Bobby is confident in her abilities, working with a potion maker who makes potions she uses to transform others to help her with her heists, be it transforming her partner or by changing a guard.

Owen and Liz: Owen and Liz are the two employees at the Dackwill Company working in the IT department. Both enjoy a good prank, often transforming each other to keep themselves amused, or others in the Dackwill building. The IT department usually doesn't have something going on, so they have to pass the time somehow! They're platonic friends, hanging out both at work and outside. Owen is a bit more of an ass (literally!), so people often go to the much nicer Liz when they need something despite Owen being the head of IT.

Elaine: Elaine is a ruthless CEO, capable of transforming others and will not hesitate to transform others to get ahead, to punish someone, or even just for her own amusement or convenience. She'll turn someone into a pen if she needs one, or mascara if she's meeting with an important client. She does not care about her employees, as she can always just transform someone into a replacement.

Haru: Harumi is a raccoon who runs an independent music store called “Music Revolution.” Business isn’t always the greatest, but she doesn’t care; she just kind of stumbled into being its owner. She has music in the store that can transform its listeners based on the genre of music. She has “big sister energy,” a bit snarky and tease-y in a friendly way, and loves messing around. Haru enjoys pushing buttons.

Skyler: Skyler is a fox capable of transforming anyone into anything, and capable of altering reality into anything he wants. He can make man going to work into a zebra in the middle of a safari, or a woman walking her dog into a chew toy and making it so they were always in those forms. With great power comes...great amusement for Skyler. He loves transforming people just for fun, laughing at the fates that befall those he changes. He has no care for who he changes, going as far as to turn people into food to eat if he's hungry enough.

Skyler is also no stranger to getting transformed himself, sometimes by his right-hand wolf Trevor who shares the same views and amusement as Skyler. As such, Skyler often finds himself turning others into copies of himself, so even if one Skyler gets permanently transformed, there are three others already walking around - sometimes transforming other Skylers!

Natalie: Natalie is the assistant to the mayor Patricia, and is very eccentric. She loves her work, and goes to great lengths to make sure everything goes according to plan. Unfortunately, this usually involves her needing to transform others into people capable of making those events go smoothly. She loves paper work, doing work, and being at work. She's as workaholic as they come, and loves every second of it!

Kat: Katie, who goes by Kat is the older sister to a shiny Sylveon named Francine. They both run a grunge clothing store called “The Sylveon Sisters.” Katie is cocky and loves pushing buttons, but has great care for the business and her sister, even if she doesn’t wear those sappy emotions on her sleeve. The clothing has two sections, regular and ones that will transform whoever wears those clothes, turning them into a grunge version either of themselves or an entirely different sex and/or species.

Trinity: Trinity is a spirit of pleasure, taking on the appearance of a female panther dressed in nothing more than a pink loincloth and bra. Only those deemed worthy of the gift of pleasure can see her in this form, otherwise, she simply appears as anyone else in that setting. She transforms those who are given the gift, allowing them to spread the joys of pleasure that she gives them. She is very physical with her transformation, making sure the experience is pleasurable so they know how important it is to share those feelings with others.

Action Braixen: Action

Braixen is a superhero! Just a very very bad one. She's what one would call a "dumbass." She's a streamer, streaming her heroic deeds, and often distracted by trying to get the perfect shots so her viewers can see how good of a job she thinks she's doing. She may fail, she may get transformed by the villains she faces but you know what? They create clips which get her more subscribers!

The Collector: The Collector is an Inteleon man who is intent on filling his collection with one of every Pokemon, turning them into various inanimate objects such as figurines, statues, and paintings. All it takes is one strike of his water gun, and you'll be stiff forever. He doesn't see this as malicious, but giving the people he changes a chance to be a part of something greater - forever a piece of history in the largest collection in the world. He's very elegant, never seen without his velvet robe.

Dixie: Dixie is a ranch rabbit who offers free vacations at her ranch - with the trade-off being you'll have to do ranch work to pay off your stay! This is done by either turning you into a farm hand like herself, or into a farm animal such as a cow or chicken. The longer you stay, the longer you'll need to stay transformed until all the debt is paid off! Dixie is friendly, strong, and loves her sister. She's owned the family ranch for years, and plans to pass it down to her eventual offspring.

Zoey: Zoey is capable of transforming anyone with the magic electricity that forms between her antlers when she brings her hands up to them. However, she doesn't realize how strong that magic is, so when she transforms someone so hard they forget who they used to be, Zoey just thinks they love their new body so much they pretend they were never anyone else. Zoey is sweet, only transforming people she thinks will want it, even if she doesn't actually realize the full extent of what she's doing, everyone always has such a positive reaction after all!

Genevieve: Genevieve is an owl woman, who transforms whoever she wants however she wants. She puts on a friendly face at first, before she eventually breaks the facade of caring about them and transforms them; sometimes into an entirely different person if they're lucky, while others she'll turn into objects and use them up, leaving them to whatever fate becomes of them, or if she's feeling especially malicious, set things up to give them a bad end. She only cares about amusing herself, even at the expense of others.

Atropos: Atropos is panther woman who determines how one's story ends. She takes great delight in ending the stories of many by transforming them when it's time for the story to start anew as something else, be it as someone, or something else. A wicked goddess, she has a tattoo across her chest that reads "The End" - of which was created by transforming the very person who summoned her to this realm - a reward to keep them close to Atropos' heart to give them a fitting end.

Charlotte (Charley): Charlotte, who goes by Charley, is a mallard duck merchant, who sells various treasures and trinkets without testing if they're cursed (got to self preserve yourself after all)! As such, she sells them at a steep discount to the point it'd be foolish NOT to purchase her wares! They just may transform you into something else, potentially even displacing you in reality and sending you off to a different one! But with prices like these, the risk is worth it~!

Annie (streamer name Sylvily): Annie is the founding member of EeveeTeevee, a group of Eevee streamer girls. Going by the screen name Sylvily, she loves having fun on stream with her fellow Eevees, setting donation goals, sub goals, and planning all kinds of fun content! She also helps new Eevee girls find their footing and recruits new ones! Not an Eevee girl? Not a problem, that's something that can easily be fixed!

The Maskmaker: The Maskmaker is a title that has been passed down for generation, someone new taking on its mantle each time. The current iteration of the Maskmaker is in the form of a gray-furred husky. He deems those who enter The Maskmaker's tent "those who wear many faces" or "those whose faces are meant to be worn." If you fall into the former camp, he'll give you a mask. The latter, you'll become a mask yourself, your soul locked within. The Maskmaker is posh and soft-spoken, elegant in his words and taking his role as The Maskmaker very seriously.

The masks created by The Maskmaker can be bonded with through prolonged use, allowing the wearer and the spirit in the mask to communicate. However, if the mask becomes damaged, the soul inside becomes damaged as well. Wearing the mask will turn your body into the form the mask used to be, and this is painless, but is more painful if the mask is damaged. It starts as an exact copy, but the more bonded the wearer and the soul are, it looks more like a hybrid between the wearer of the mask's true form, and the mask's former body.

[Image Pending]: The Better Business Burros: The Better Business Burros are a sibling donkey team - Will and Abigail. Will is laid back, coming with crazy and outlandish ideas while Abigail is all business and more serious in her ideas. The burros travel around town, helping struggling businesses by either changing the employees inside through transformation and that sometimes involves transforming the business itself if they see a different one to better fit the area.

[Image Pending]: Nikolai: Nikolai is a mad scientist, the kobold pushing science to its absolute extremes. He was kicked out from other laboratories for his unethical inventions and experiments, but Nikolai believes them to be too narrow-minded. To him, science can't advance if it can't be pushed. Nikolai will transform anyone into anything to see if it's possible without a care in the world. He'll turn someone into a micro-organism just to see how small he can make someone, and leave them as that forever. The kobold is as mad as a mad scientist can be, and only talks in the third person.

[Image Pending]: Laura: Laura is a Lucario woman who has the ability to alter the very aura of reality. She can enter anywhere at anytime by re-writing the aura of the world to make it so. Likewise, she can alter the reality of anyone, transforming them into anything she wants, and she takes great delight in permanently altering someone's reality. Very devious and very much an evil Lucario!

[Image Pending]: ??? (Chameleon Swindler): A swindler by trade, this chameleon woman has a name no one knows, nor would she ever give someone it. She'll transform anyone at a chance to get that lovely wallet in their pocket or purse, and has no shame in doing so. She is a showwoman at heart, making her swindling on the easier - with the pier being her preferred spot, hard to catch up to her when she makes her escape!

[Image Pending] Rockwell: Rockwell is someone who can set the fate of one's life in stone - and that fate is starting over as someone else entirely. Sometimes they'll keep their age in their new life, or sometimes they'll quite literally be starting from "square one." Rockwell is soft-spoken, and takes pleasure in telling those whose fate he set when their current life is going to end and their new one begins. Rockwell only transforms those he deems "evil," and would never do anything to "neutral" or "good" alignments.

[Image Pending] The Transformation Investigation Agency - Preston and Jonas: Preston, an ocelot along with Jonas, a husky, make up the Transformation Investigation Agency (or TIA), a pair of private investigators who investigate transformative happenings and make sure whoever is causing them is put to a stop.

Non-TF Related OCs (but can be TF'd into!)

Grace O'Neil: Grace is a full-time pirate captain, part-time merchant. The goat started her life as a merchant but after hearing tales from the seas by the pirates that came to her shop, she bought a ship, an outfit, and set sail. She primarily lives a pirate's life, but will return to her shop in her hometown to sell treasures she plunders to fund further adventures (be it ship upgrades or new crew members).

Magic Fan Characters

Joanna: Joanna is a raccoonfolk living on the plane of New Capenna. She is a part of the Cabaretti family - one who loves to party! She works as both an enforcer and one who helps those who come to the Cabaretti parties feel like they're living the high life. Best friends with an aven named Ruthie in the Brokers family, Joanna is explosive, sometimes literally, always one to be the life of a party and rush in recklessly because she knows Ruthie will have her back.

Nadia “Law” Felina: Nadia is a leonin (of the lynx variety) that was originally a member of the Brokers family on New Capenna, acting as one of the family’s collectors. On a collection job, while giving chase, she happened upon an omenpath, taking her to a brand new world - the plane of Kamigawa. There, she was discovered by the Okiba leader Greasefang. She was “adopted” into the Okiba, the normally all-Nezumi (rat) biker gang. They gave Nadia the nickname “Law,” as she helps to keep them out of legal trouble, Nadia using her background as a member of the Brokers to find loopholes in the law to keep them all out of jail.

[Image Pending]: Flip: Flip was a human planeswalker and a thief, jumping around planes, stealing valuables and planeswalking away before anyone could catch him. After one hasty jump, he found himself on the plane of Bloomburrow, where the magic of the plane turns all non-animals into a woodland critter upon entry, with Flip being given the form of a weasel. He set up shop in Bloomburrow, able to scam its residents by selling junk from other planes that the Bloomburrow residents were unaware of their real value. Flip was able to easily avoid interplanar authorities thanks to Flip being unrecognizable as a weasel. Normally, Flip would return to human when he left Bloomburrow, but prolonged exposure to the plane’s magic made it so Flip’s DNA was fully re-written, making him a weasel permanently.
