

villain unit into a security company, but in fact, it was a great honor for people to be a soldier who could serve Kailrun himself.

"The reasons why I have to serve you are as follows."

Whenever Kailrun's security company was announced, it boasted a crazy competition rate of hundreds to thousands. A text message was sent to the successful candidates who had undergone three document reviews to inform them of their advance to the next stage.

"Thank you for your hard work." The game that changes your life begins now. You may have to risk your life. Do you want to start?

Applicants found that these letters were notifications of acceptance. People around him knew how difficult it was to review documents by Kailrun's security company. This is because a total of five people had to pass to advance to the next stage. Successful applicants for documents from Kailrun's security company advanced to the final stage with a look of respect and envy.

"Welcome." Congratulations to all the talented people who came all the way here."

Participants' cheers turned into astonishment in a minute.

"You don't have anything right now. In this state, you have to survive on this island for 15 days. You can give up once a day every day. But the moment you give up, you will never be able to apply for this company again. "Will you give up?"

No one is crazy to dump this opportunity on their own.

"Any action is possible for survival. Let's get started!"

People start constantly trying to survive. Food on the island runs out in three days. Even because it is the sea that surrounds the island, people use various survival skills to save drinking water. Due to the lack of food, some people hold out while eating soil. However, this survival also has limitations. Some participants remember that they can do anything here and start attacking each other.

"What's wrong with you?"

"Give me everything you have!"

"I don't have anything either."

When people with various abilities compete, the weak inevitably die. People baked the bodies on fire. Then the dinner was held that night. Of course, some people felt uncomfortable with cannibalism. But what should we do?

This was because it was an unconditional path to achieve success.

"You can't have emotions for success."

It was a strategy that perfectly entered Kailrun's theory. All those who survived here were accepted, received military training, and grew up by putting them into various security operations. Employees of Kailrun's security company were envied by everyone, and their hero stories were promoted through various media. All the children grew up dreaming of working for Kailrun.

Kailrun implements another strategy. It is understood that large-scale construction can make money in various industries, which facilitates economic circulation.

"Yes, we're going to build a new city!"

Kailrun makes redevelopment plans centered on his accommodation. Residents who originally lived find a house to live in and compensate two to three times the original house price. The original residents, who earned 200% of the profit, are satisfied and leave right away for a new house recognized by Kailrun.

"Let's start the construction!"

With all the technology mobilized, a new city begins to be built quickly and safely. And, about three months later, the new city began to outline to some extent. It was a new city with high-rise buildings densely built and high-tech. In the meantime, Kailrun begins to contact people with superpowers at the same time. As all the heroes died, most of them belonged to Kailrun's security company, but very few neutral people remained living in other jobs.

"From next month, people with superpowers have to live only in new cities. If you live elsewhere, you may be considered in violation of the laws of the country and maybe immediately sentenced to death. We'll provide you with a place to live, so all you have to do has come to your body."

Supernatural powers who thought their freedom of residence was violated initially protest. However, most superpowers decide to move when they see a new city twice as good as the standard of living they originally lived in. They feel happy to be provided with new jobs in the new city and to see their quality of life improve.

"We need to separate the superpowers from the general public. So that the general public has no idea about the identity of the superpowers. Of course, I can fight and win the superpowers, and the army is all on my side, but it's much easier to manage with it under my hands."

However, some lucky superpowers who survived the massacre do not listen to Kailrun's instructions until the end.

"Kailrun, who suppresses superpowers, get out!"