

"Of course. See you at the stadium, Waldur."

After exchanging numbers, they had no choice but to head to their base with regret. For a week until the following Saturday, the night Blasko and Waldur hated the most due to anxiety and anxiety was transformed into the most anticipated time. Blasko had to train and take classes during the day, and Waldur had to do wrestling training. However, at night when they could use their cell phones, they were able to contact each other's Fiancee. At first, they were shy to call, so they texted.

"Waldur, how have you been today?"

"I did weight training today."

"How much weight did you lift today?"

"I lifted 200kg today."

"Gasp! Aren't you 200kg?"

"That's right, professional wrestlers have to listen to that much."

"Didn't you train yesterday?"

"Yesterday, I sparred with my colleagues 2 to 1."

"Wow, it's hard to even one on one, but a 2-1 sparring must be hard."

"It's difficult at first, but if you get hit a few times, your strategy will be understood quickly, so you can overcome it without any problems. Like the video I sent you."

"As expected, Waldur, you're so cool!"

"Hehe. No way. Blasko, how have you been?"

"Me? I've been taking classes."

"Class? What class are you taking?"

"This is my textbook, and memorizing the structure of the submarine is my task. Our country's submarine consists of about 200 parts. Memorizing what this structure is like is this semester's test. Here, B must be hit so that it can be passed without being paid."

"Wow Blasko, I don't know anything. However, Blasko is smart, so I believe he can do well."

"It cheers me up, Waldur."

"Other than that, nothing special happened, Waldur?"

"It's my first time wearing a uniform. Please take a look, Waldur".

"You look like a real general, so I can't speak." "You're so cool, Blasko."

"Oh, I took a selfie of my muscles earlier. Do you want to see it?"

'Wow, Waldur's chest muscles are thicker than I saw a few days ago. What if only the chest muscles come out?'

"To avoid that, I'm working out hard in other parts, too.'

"It's already time to sleep. I don't want to sleep." Blasko.'

"I don't want to sleep either, Waldur. But wouldn't it be meaningful to call again if we worked hard on what we had to do and spent the day like this?'

"As expected, Blasko is so mature in every word. See you tomorrow Blasko."

Within a few days, Blasko and Waldur's contact changed from text to phone. It wasn't long after they broke up, but they were going crazy because they wanted to hear their voices so much.

"You can see it in just one day, Blasko."

"I miss you so much, Waldur. Did you prepare well for tomorrow's game?"

"Yes, I felt at ease after I met you. The worries, anxiety, and fear that bothered me have all disappeared, so I sleep comfortably these days."

"That's a relief. I feel the same way. "It's the first time that only one person has entered my daily life, but the surrounding scenery feels so beautiful and lovely, Waldur."

"Me too Blasko. It's my first time having such a happy life."

"See you tomorrow, Waldur."

"Be careful, Blasko."

The two prayed that their time would go by quickly. But for them, the speed at which time passed felt like a larva. The two threw themselves into their beds and muttered the same thing.

"Oh, why isn't the time going by?" "I have to see my love."

Saturday, the day they meet again, has already come. Waldur and Blasko dressed as nicely as possible and headed to the stadium. This is because I thought there would be no opportunity to convey their feelings after today. Today, they confessed their feelings to each other. Now, all they had in their heads was thoughts about each other. First of all, another champion defense match has begun today. As expected, it was Josh the Tiger who came up against him.

"Let's say that the winner of the real fight takes the champion without a script today."

"Good. Waldur, you need to be nervous".

Even Josh the Tiger's provocation, a close younger brother and competitor dealing with the championship position, was cute to Waldur. When Waldur goes up to the stage, the boos and cries of the audience, which he always hears, are no longer heard by Waldur.

'Blasko!'

It was Blasko, who used to be seen only as a dot among the numerous audiences. However, now only Blasko is seen among the numerous audiences. Waldur's eyes show a bright face and Blasko's firm and sleek body. Blasko's quiet smile at Waldur was a great help to Waldur than any other cheering.

"Please watch, Blasko!"

"Game start!"

As the script disappears, Josh the Tiger somehow pulls Waldur down and runs to win the championship title. However, he could not beat Waldur, who had already abandoned his greed and worries and began to enjoy wrestling. Even if Waldur wanted to lose to Josh the Tiger, there were too many loopholes. Waldur only walked slightly on his legs, but Josh the Tiger falls.

"Why are you in such a hurry?"

Waldur lifts Josh the Tiger with one hand. Blasko's chills get thrilling.

"Oh, are you going to use that move?"

Waldur's move was a gorilla press he showed Blasko last week. Waldur throws Josh the Tiger to the ground as hard as he can. Josh the Tiger doesn't have a script either, so he doesn't collapse immediately and gets up and attacks. Whenever that happened, it was Waldur, who made Josh the Tiger shabby with various repulsive movements. Waldur sometimes kicked near the ring and threw it out of the ring using the opponent's attack. Josh the Tiger was like an execution ceremony to show how poor his wrestling skills were compared to Waldur. Josh the Tiger loses his will when the attack does not go in. Eventually, he throws a white handkerchief called a disgrace to Wrestler into the ring.

"What? Why does Josh the Tiger give up so weakly?" "Let's fight more..."

"I didn't know you were this good. I think I'll be the only one embarrassed if we fight more. "Waldur, just be the champion."

The audience booed Waldur, who mercilessly smashed their favorite Josh the Tiger, but Waldur no longer cared. This is because Blasko was applauding himself. And through Blasko, Waldur realized that no matter what people say to him if he does what he likes, his existence is worth it. Waldur no longer cares about other people's gossip. He smiled broadly after a long time and enjoyed the joy of victory. Of course, I didn't forget the fan service for the fans who supported him. As soon as the fan signing is over, Waldur runs to Blasko. The two hugged each other tightly as if they were old lovers. After the warm words of missing you come and go, Waldur first brings it up.

"Blasko, will you be my partner?" I prepared this for you."

Waldur prepared a rugby ball with Blasko's name on it and a couple of rings.

"I think someone has occupied our relationship with a red thread. I want to be with you for the rest of my life, too."

"We'll be together until the end, Blasko."

Blasko also prepared a glove with Waldur's name on it and a couple of helmets. The two shouted "I love you" to each other and hugged each other tightly. From this day on, Blasko and Waldur became a couple. People were also surprised by the unexpected combination, but they cheered for their relationship by calling them muscle couples.

Waldur also won the remaining games and became the integrated professional wrestling season champion, while Blasko also won first place at the military academy. It could not be denied that Blasko's passion for Waldur's life was each other.

"Hello, Waldur! I became a top cadet this time".

"Congratulations, Blasko! I also won this season's combined champion and MVP."

"Waldur, you've worked so hard. You're so cool!"

"Blasko, you're so cool, too".

"Oh, I can't wait to see you." "What's your vacation schedule?"

"Well, I think we should check the vacation schedule. But when it's vacation, I think I should go and say hello to my parents. I've been away from home for too long."

"It's been almost 3 years since I left my hometown, and it's the same as you, Blasko."

"When are we going on a date?" "I can't wait to go on a date."

"Oh, that's right, it's been a while since I've been on a date."

"Where should we go on a date, Waldur?"

"How about city G?" I heard that the scenery there is nice and there are a lot of things for sportspeople like us to do."

"Oh, good. Can you reserve a hotel for me, Waldur?"

"Of course, I've changed my wallet for you!"

"I'll make a travel course, Waldur."

"I can't wait to see you, Blasko. Why are we so busy?"

"Isn't our meeting sweeter because of this busy time, Waldur?"

"As expected, Blasko's words are not wrong at all."

After that, they checked when they were resting with each other. Waldur had a month and a half off-season period until next season, but Blasko had only a week of vacation. Life at the Naval Academy used to be too busy. First of all, Waldur asked Blasko to go home. It is also important to spend time with each other, but it is also important to be filial to visit parents. Thus, Waldur and Blasko visited their hometowns. I visited my hometown, met my parents, and greeted them.

"Mother and father, I'm here. Have you been doing okay?"

"Is my son here?"

"How have you been?"

Blasko and Waldur asked each other's regards with their parents and told them how they have been. Both parents were moved by the appearance of their sons who had grown up to be dignified. Waldur and Blasko relieved their tiredness by sleeping late in their hometowns, going to places of their memories, and taking a walk with their parents. It's already the day Blasko and Waldur decided to meet.

"Stay healthy." "I'll be back soon!"

They boarded the bus heading to G City. Parents quietly shed tears and returned home in regret as they saw their son moving away. Whether they knew their parents' hearts or not, Blasko and Waldur were excited to see each other. The bus they took arrived at the G city bus stop at the same time, perhaps by coincidence.

"Waldur!"

"Blasko!"

The two ran and hugged each other as if they were reunited with their separated family. Whenever they had time in the evening, they called and texted. Waldur and Blasko made others wonder who