

"PI-Please! MPH!" A Blue Vixen would shout as she was being gagged and now slowly covered into a Rubber Sylveon as there was an audible yet muffled struggle to get them off but slowly but surely eventually they would have no strength left as the Sylveon would take over... The Rubber Sylveon would explain to them a bit about themselves and how they came to be... and now the two are together with the Blue Vixen encased inside the now Rubber Sylveon Suit

And that was where we left off last time!

A good amount of time has passed... and by good amount, it means at least one month since the accident. The Rubber Sylveon who goes by Thea would be exploring again like always with her host, The Blue Vixen named Lucy inside of them. Thea and Lucy had a good amount of endless adventures: From nearly having a close faint to now exploring different foods of the cities. Thea was a kind and loving suit unlike the other possible suits. She always loved to explore the world that it was but always avoided it. Now? Thanks to Lucy she can fully explore the world!... Barely but still manageable as there was very much curiosity. The two of them were at best kind to each other... certainly after the first week when they were fighting from here and there. Thea sometimes had to deal with Lucy struggling to fight them and take them off. Lucy in the meantime, sometimes had little to no endurance inside Thea at all. Not only that? Well they had a battle and nearly got defeated in that battle. Not only did the two of them not know what was happening, But also not knowing what was their strategy. Lucy was more defensive and tried to leave right there and then. Thea was more of a slight offensive style and left when they saw the opponent injured enough. Then the constant battle since the first week but then all of these finally had subsided thanks to an incident that involved themselves and a very close call. During one time, several Pokemons would actually ambush the duo which was a surprise to the two of them before then a hard tackle would hit the leg as Lucy would scream in pain gagged as Thea was a bit in pain as well she did use dig. They would quickly dig as fast as possible to run away as she would feel the leg injury that she had as she and would stop at a nearby town out of the perimeter "MHMP!" Lucy would muffle a cry shout in pain when Thea touched the part of the injury... probably now hurting their chances of mobility as Thea did felt bad and would then let Lucy leave the suit, she was surprised as she did take the suit off fast and wanted to run... but after what she did?... Why would she? As she would then grab the suit still injured and would put the suit in a bag she had hidden as she started to limp her way to the doctor to get healed. Despite them nearly being knocked out thanks to the leg injury, They both know one thing: They must work together or have very much a troublesome time. Both finally started to take their time and talk about their differences and some compromises here and there. Now? They were traveling from town to town to just taste different types of foods and dishes. The good news? Thea still has her job and luckily not much time passed for her to be fired. The bad news? Now she would be teased from time to time by Thea. Even then it isn't as bad as she had expected, well... if Thea doesn't get that good amount of ideas from a certain side... she can be safe for now as the two were enjoying their time. From visiting towns to training the Pokemon, and Thea getting out more and more!

However by the time they fully finished eating there was something in Thea's mind, something she thought could help them a bit and? Well it was catching Pokemons, After all she also has only a little of Pokemons and those are from Lucy. She was a Pokemon but was very shy...

that's because Lucy is extremely like it, while Thea just has some problems in talking and having a conversation. They have around 35 Pokemon, and nearly half aren't trained a lot but they both are trying to train them as much as possible. Thea wanted to focus on the missing Pokemons training, Lucy wanted to capture more Pokemon. Both had debates but there was a compromise... Three new Pokemon? Train three Pokemon. They would put that all aside however, and enjoy the food they had as they would look at the sky... what would be their next place or even the next location to visit?... They wouldn't know as Thea said thank you to Lucy and they would have muffled a Your welcome. That's when they took a map... where to visit and where to go next?... As they look they would decide to let the Pokemon that they have free to roam around as the Sylveon with the host yawned a bit feeling a bit sleepy but had to be awake to overlook the Pokemons be free... she would let a soft chuckle out as Thea would rub Lucy's bulge and would shiver as she muffled 'H-Hey!' while Thea said "Hehe... looks like I got you awake now~" she teased them as she then would smile, her rubber body shining right in the bright sun hitting them. As she would continue to think... What's next?

That's when they both agreed to take a book out on popular or even interesting places to look at. So many options that Thea was very much wanting to go, While Lucy was just still thinking about Pokemon to catch or train! That's when one place... one place managed to catch their eye... and even bookmarks it before then continuing searching in the book. Both of them actually loved reading about places, even if it made them sleep and wake up forgetting what they read. She looked at their Pokemons, and was having fun with one another but she was alone... both were... in technicality. How? Well Lucy and Thea are connected... break it's connection and well... both are alone. However, the subject of suits at hand. She then thought of something, and knew she would definitely use it one day or the other... as she told Lucy "Hey dear... let me try the move again..." she said as Lucy would nod and then let Lucy finally leave the suit as she would pull the zipper down and out came Lucy as she then carefully slipped out of the suit and back to herself. She would then take a good sigh of relief as she then placed the suit down and then walked away a bit and before then started to walk towards the suit and then stepped into them. Little by little the suit started to encase them, 'Still a bit slow...' she said as then slowly the rubber suit finally arrived at the chest and then fully covered them in one full action and Lucy started to struggle before then "Lucy- Ow- Ow! Lucy!" Thea said as Lucy would hear it and would be embarrassed, as a punishment she started to tease their private part bulge as Lucy started to moan muffled "Good, now you get Punishment~" she teased as Lucy would continue to rubbed the bulge and then other parts with her ribbons as she was moaning a good amount before then finally stopping after some time and giggled. "Next time just relax, this isn't your first time after all~" she teased them as Lucy would nod as Thea smiled "That's a good dear... that's a good host..." she said, patting their head chuckling as they would sit in the grass.

Lucy would then muffle something to Thea, Knowing that's the best way to talk. That is when they chuckled and smiled "My, Aren't you quite cheeky~" she teased as she rubbed their bulge even more as Lucy would moan loudly. Good news is that Thea stopped when the Pokemon were coming back, The bad news? Thea not finishing her teasing. Their pokemon would look at Thea and then smile. Thea would smile a bit embarrassed as this was the few times she saw the Pokemon closely and patted the Pokemon. She would then say 'Return!' to all of them as all of them were now in their PokéBalls. She would chuckle as she carefully with her rubbery ribbons picked them up and put them in the bag that they have for some time always carried for their items and stuff. She places them carefully where they respectfully belong and then closes that bag, and starts to put it on. It was a bit strange for her everytime she did that, however she would then smile and started to slowly let Lucy get out of the suit. Luckily the bag was still worn by the now inactive Thea and carefully took it and also placed Thea on it by folding her up carefully and placing it on the bag as well. Lucy would then mount a bike and then start to ride the bike as she was enjoying the outside. The Air, and the feeling... to her this was just too good. She was riding slowly as she would then look at the road ahead. It was quite the long and yet short route, as she was wondering what place to visit next.

While thinking, Lucy also would think about the Pokemon and then nodded as she saw the next town and entered it inside and would smile as she would then enter it. She would bike carefully all the way towards the Pokémon center and then would walk inside, leaving her bike in a bikerike with a lock. As she entered, she saw it empty for the most part and nodded walking towards the PC. She would then put all... except to two Pokémon that she decided to keep as she then finished using it. She would go into the desk and of course nodded and said "I would like to heal them" as the nurse nodded and walked to the healing machine as they would heal their pokemon. "I am happy to tell you that your Pokemon are fully restored. Thank you for visiting the Pokemon Center!" The nurse said and bowed as Lucy smiled, "Thank you!" She said as she started to walk towards the exit. 'Pokemon... check' her mind said as she started to get the bike from the bike rack and started to leave. Once she got out of town, not on her bike at all she would nod. She was enjoying the air that was flowing through... a bit too much, as she mounted into the bike. With a deep breath and a sharper look, Lucy would start to peddle the bike and start to ride in the bright yet strong sun.

Next up?... A certain resort she and Thea agreed to visit. To them it seems interesting due to several factors, however she thought it could be quite the nice experience... if lucky. There are rumors that are running around the place yet they seem to not care. Well... not yet at least, After all from the looks of it? It will be a tricky place to move however... it should be quite the test for themselves. But there was fear and concerns with Thea, and some of them were very much a concern but she did say "Before we arrive... i will..." and tell them everything they need to know. Once Thea's mind would be at peace? Lucy would go into the next town for more supplies and then! Right towards that resort that Thea felt odd and now a bit confident with Lucy reassuring them. It was going to be... well in and out! After all, they got way more worse! But... not as bold yet more interesting that this 'Resort' can bring to the two gals... Only time will tell on how the resort looks and goes around. But until then they had to buy one last thing in another town and then head out again. Well whatever was the case it didn't matter as such since it was only for this one time that will be used.