

Heroes are astonished that their attack did not damage Kailrun.

"Master, you were hiding your power."

Brainfog admires her outstanding eye and the wonderful body of Kailrun.

While Nightmare is shocked to see his huge body, Kailrun's huge hands grab Nightmare. It was Kailrun, who tore Nightmare's neck like spinning a bottle head with only two fingers. A huge amount of blood spewed out to the spot where Nightmare's neck was pulled out.

"So beautiful..." Is there another happy moment like this?

By the time Nightmare's blood fountain gets wet, Kailrun throws Nightmare's body toward the sea. Afterward, he admires his power and returns to his original size.

"Can't move..." I don't have any..."

Strength intuitively felt that his end was approaching. Kailrun raises his hand and raises Strength.

"Strength, you were the strongest hero I've ever met. I admit it. You were the first hero to attack without getting tired of my power for 24 hours. Of course, the gap between you and me is huge, but you were a hero who could overcome my position for a while. It's the last one, ask me if you have any questions. I'll answer you kindly."

"Why did you do that?"

"What?"

"What's the reason for giving us false hope and taking it back miserable?"

"I don't understand."

"If you had this much power, you could have killed us right away. Why did you fight for 24 hours?"

"It's not fun."

"What?"

"It's not fun if I kill you right away."

"Is that the reason?"

"I wanted to see you guys." The heroes I've met so far surrendered immediately to me and were brainwashed or killed. I did it on purpose. I wanted to see you guys fighting passionately to your limits. I had to keep in my eyes the image of you suffering and fighting with indomitable determination."

"....."

"And do you know this?"

"What is it?"

"You and Nightmare will be the only heroes I killed with my hands. The rest of the heroes made me commit suicide by making strategies."

"Since I'm going to die, it's an honor to die for you." I have no regrets in my life, Kailrun."

"It's a shame that fighting so hard will probably be the last time for me." You were an incredibly cool and strong man. I'll send it so it doesn't hurt. "Great job, Strength."

Kailrun grabs Strength's neck with one hand and lifts it. With one hand, press down on the neck and gradually tighten the breath of Strength. Strength slowly feels his consciousness disappearing. He thought he would lose in the end, but he has no regrets in his life because he acted according to his beliefs. When he feels the breath of Strength subsides, Kailrun swings his tail over Strength. All of Strength's skin is ripped off by his huge tail. Kailrun opens up Strength's body with both hands. The bones of Strength, which are twice as many as ordinary people, are easily broken like snacks at the touch of Kailrun. Finally, Kailrun found what he wanted. This huge heart is hidden in the diaphragm. It was Kailrun, who wanted to try the strongest man's heart.

"Finally, I'm eating this."

Kailrun bites Strength's heart with his sharp teeth. Whenever he tears his heart with his sharp teeth, salty blood flows through the very solid heart muscles. Kailrun's eating speed is gradually increasing. However, perhaps because of the added taste of victory, Strength's heart feels very sweet to Kailrun. As he enjoys the victory, his face is covered with blood.

"I don't think I can eat such delicious food forever, not for survival, but for me who eats it for taste."

He realizes that Amelia is here and shouts.

"Amelia, you're hiding there. Hurry up and come out!"

As soon as Amelia hears the sound, she runs to her owner, Kailrun, and sheds tears.

"Master, I was so surprised because I thought you were losing."

"I'm sorry, they're going to the afterlife anyway, but I had to make it fun, so I couldn't help it."

"Do you know how worried I was?"

"Okay, I will never play with my life from now on."