

Amelia can't continue her words and shed tears.

"Amelia, I'm going to have an accession ceremony. The will of the people will come together to create the strongest empire in the world. "Will you be with me on this journey?"

Amelia stops crying and continues to talk.

"I fell in love with my master at a glance when I first came in as a spy for heroes." The day you revealed my identity, I was going to tell you first that I was a spy, but you said it first. Your appearance, ambition, voice, gait, and behavior all make me excited. If I could be with you for the rest of my life, I wouldn't be as honored as that."

"Are you accepting my proposal?"

"Of course."

"Oh, and you don't have to call me master anymore, call me Kailrun. Kailrun."

Amelia, who was awkward with the suddenly changed name, calls his name after a long time.

"Kailrun... "I love you..."

She hugs Kailrun tightly with hot tears. Kailrun also hugs her and cries. Kailrun wanted to see how much Amelia loved him.

"As expected, you're fast because you're from a bandit family."

Kailrun was a bad man who deliberately broke his heart by digging into the painful past that Amelia hated to mention, and made Amelia unable to sleep even though he knew she was bleeding from overwork. Nevertheless, Amelia stayed by Kailrun until the end. Kailrun regrets noticing too late that Amelia was truly in love with him. Even now, Kailrun decides to express his mind to Amelia every day and make it his top priority to do what she wants. Thus, the teary night of Kailrun and Amelia passed and it became the day when the coronation ceremony was held. The two wore the coolest clothes.

"Kailrun and Queen Amelia, who will be the first emperors of our empire, are entering."

A huge roar fills the scene of the coronation.

"Your Majesty Kailrun, please lead us well."

"I will follow your will and rule this empire well."

Kailrun wears a colorful emperor's crown and sits on the emperor's throne, which is designed simple but luxurious. He looks down at his people. Countless people look like a dot. The moment he wanted so much in his life came true. Next to him, Amelia, who will be his companion, is smiling. He closes his eyes for a moment and looks back on his life. A poor child with nothing is now standing on top of the world with everything. After fighting the heroes, Kailrun feels that his strength has become stronger. The appearance of him sitting on the throne was like a divine deity. He, along with top experts in each field, will lead the greatest and most powerful empire in history. There are only two left before him: growth and prosperity. Kailrun smiles the happiest smile in the world.

'It's a new start now.'

The era of Kailrun was opening a new curtain.